- MONIVAL, FEBRUATY 11, 1889.

It The following extract from the speech of Mr. Bruz of Tennessee, ensurerates sorge of the ways in which more than TWENTY MICLIONS of the public treasure has been misapplied, to say nothing about the millions upon millions abstracted By public defaulters, and two legged Let any man attempt to estimate the actual lerges, in Miltars and cents, which this country bee meranned by the incommetent, unprincipled. and abortion, ring administration, and he will at once I a that out buillies no is with higher game than that upon the track of which we have been put by the President, Without pretending to estimate the indefinite injury, the handing of milipus in lorgs, which a lew years of great commercial and financial decangement must have inflicted upon a great nation like this, let us take a more prablical view of the subject. Bet us vet down a few of the leading items in the mosecut, which the people may upon clear and tangible grounds, slate against the great na-tional defaulters to whom I have alluded, and Who present put put at mand to a office.

First. There was the Black Hawk war-a war which originated in the oheer neglect and culp-ble negligence of the administration, and which cost the country $3,000,000.

Besond, Theje was the fate Creek war. war notoriously caused or instigated by the speculations in tadian lands, and which might have been averted, but for the imbecility of some, and th went of principle in others, of the public a gents intructed by the administration with the execution of the treaty of 1832 I estimate the cost of that war at $1,530,000. Third. We may safely estimate the extra bove what a competent and faithful system of administration would have expended on this war, at $12,000,000. I, sir, predict that the entire cost of this war to the country will not be less than $20,000,006. And when it is horne in mind that this disasterous war would have been prevented by a judicious selection of agents in the mana, ment of the indians, the charge which I wake against the administration of an extens che A anditura upon it will be considered. This, it must be recollected, was purely an executive war a war commenced and naged entirely at executive discretion ... Congress was only appealed to, from time to time, to yete the sums of money which were said to be essential to its successful prosecution; and these appeals were often made after the troops were in the field, and no siternative was left but to vote the money. I take this occasion to remark, that it was for voting for such appropriations as these, and occasionally for large sums s ipulated in Indian treaties ratified by the Senate, that the Whigs in Congress have been charged by the apologists of the administration as equally to blame with the must vee for the large expenditures incurred under these heads; but with what justice, the public will decide.

Fourth. The increased cost of Indian treaties and Indian emigration, is consequence of the unnecessary multiplication of officers and agents suplayed, the incapacity and dishonesty of many of them, and the general want of skill and fidelity in the superintendency. I estimate the 1--- under this head at $5,000,000 at least.

Fitth, and last, I will mention the item of $1. 900,000 which the country has been taxed with to suppress disturbances on the Canada Itontier. Every cent of this expenditure, I maintain, would have been saved to the nation if the President, instead of temporizing and waiting to me what public sentiment would be, and suffering the feeble proclamations of the Governors of States to go forth as a substitute for his own, had, upon the first indication of disturbances in that quarter, issued such a proclamation as he has only done within a few weeks past. But,. sir, that did not suit the policy of an electionerring administration. It as hazarding quite too much to take ground in advance of public opinion throughout the Union; and so the inreal intentions of the Government, many of them About committed, of course, according to their autural sympathica and feelings, and the national character has consequently suffered with the Tressury. These few items, selected only betager they are be largest and must obvious, nake in the aggregate, a loss of upwards of $20,000,000.

Howas very melodions, and his reply to her sister particularly graceful, yet still she leared to speak lest a word might bring her iff suppressed laugh together out with it.

At length the lamps were lighted and Clara ragerly surveyed the visiter. He was what heryoung lady friends would have pronounced, decidedly a very excellent looking fellow; a phrase of course, too hackneyed to be taken up by her fastidious lips.

His features were remarkably handsome, and wore an expression which proved the bumps of mirth conspicuous on his well developed torehead by no means misplaced, and which could not fail to be attractive to a damar! A yivacious as the one engaged in the accuting.

The conversation of the visitor was so fracinating, that Clara's risibility soon yielded to it, and before an Hour, site' caught herselt wishing from the bottom of her heart, that there should have been cause so just sectorgive it riec.

's visit had been fengthened to better than a month, when, one morning he had been idly serewing the keys of Clara's guitar for some minutes while she sat working near him, he stopped suddenly, and announced his intention of making his departure next day.

Ciara started and endeavored to raise her eyes to his face, but they would not obey her, and then as ineffectually attempted to speak. The gentleman arose, struck the guitar against the table till the strings vibrated; picked up a sheet of music and threw it down again ; opened his line on if there was something to be said,

Edward entered.

"Why, Clara, child.1 exclaimed hey-to hat's Shocking ! - if there a anything I do detest the matter. TREATMENT The principal objects of treatment are to remove indigession, to strengthen the ondy, and to eliven the spirits, which may be promoted by exercise early hours, regular mee's and pleasant canversation. The bowels (if costive) being carefully regulated by the occasional use of a mild aperient. We know nothing better executated to obtain this end, than Dr. Wm. Evans' Aperient Pills being mild and certain in their operation. The how ris Ting and cleaned, his inestimable Camomile Pille, (which are tonic, anondyne, & anti spasmogic) are an infallible remaily & without dispute pave proved a great blessing to the numerous public.
Some physicians have recommeded a free use of mercury but it should not be resorted to; as in many cases it will greatly agreevate as mptoms.
